Before taking advantage of the Soft Skills training with EFE-Maroc, my job search was a very challenging period. I spent more than 6 months looking for a job, but the difficulty of passing job interviews was holding me back.

I encountered challenges in aligning my skills with market expectations, but these experiences also motivated me to look for solutions and invest in my professional development.

Training with EFE-Maroc represented a strategic opportunity for me to hone my skills, respond to market needs and give new impetus to my career.

The training far exceeded my expectations and had a positive impact on my personality and behavior in the workplace. The modules focusing on soft skills were particularly instructive.

I would like to express my deep gratitude to the trainer, Mr. Radouane El Khalfi, whose expertise and passion greatly contributed to making this experience enriching and relevant.

After taking this course, my professional life underwent a significant transformation. The skills I acquired boosted my self-confidence, improved my interpersonal communication and stress management, and prepared me for the world of work. These have not only made it easier for me to fit in, but also to adapt to the different challenges in the workplace.

In short, training has been essential to my professional and personal development. Now, I'm a Kitchen Clerk at one of the big hotels in Tangier, and I put into practice what I learnt every day.
